Specialty 550300 «Philological education»

- To train highly qualified specialists in the field of teaching English and linguistics;
- To enhance the quality of student training and support improvements in pedagogical and methodological approaches;
- To raise the students' competency level in the four skills of reading, writing, speaking and listening. This is achieved through the specific language courses required of every student during the years of study;
- To teach/practice reflection (thinking critically and analytically about language and learning);
