

Instructor of American Studies and Translation Department M. Taalaibek kyzy attended The International Conference on Social Science Studies (IConSoS) held in May 2-3, 2024 in Alanya, Turkey by Gaziantep University's Chair of Conference Organizing Committee, Prof. Dr. Mehmet Ozaslan.

Instructor of American Studies and Translation Department Tazhibaeva G. T. attended The International Conference on Technology (IConTech) held in May 2-3, 2024 in Alanya, Turkey by Gaziantep University's Chair of Conference Organizing Committee, Prof. Dr. Mehmet Ozaslan.

ICoNSo

COGNITIVE AND PRAGMATIC FUNCTIONS OF ENGLISH NAMED PHRASES IN USE BY THE EYEBROW RAISING AUDIENCE

INTRODUCTION

Named phrases are conventional expressions that are used in a variety of contexts. They are used to convey information and to establish relationships between speakers and hearers.

The purpose of this study is to investigate the cognitive and pragmatic functions of English named phrases in use by the eyebrow-raising audience.

The data sources for this study are the transcripts of the conversations between the speakers and the hearers.

The results of this study are as follows:

1. The cognitive functions of English named phrases are to convey information and to establish relationships between speakers and hearers.

2. The pragmatic functions of English named phrases are to convey information and to establish relationships between speakers and hearers.

3. The results of this study are as follows:

4. The cognitive functions of English named phrases are to convey information and to establish relationships between speakers and hearers.

5. The pragmatic functions of English named phrases are to convey information and to establish relationships between speakers and hearers.

6. The results of this study are as follows:

7. The cognitive functions of English named phrases are to convey information and to establish relationships between speakers and hearers.

8. The pragmatic functions of English named phrases are to convey information and to establish relationships between speakers and hearers.

9. The results of this study are as follows:

10. The cognitive functions of English named phrases are to convey information and to establish relationships between speakers and hearers.

11. The pragmatic functions of English named phrases are to convey information and to establish relationships between speakers and hearers.

12. The results of this study are as follows:

13. The cognitive functions of English named phrases are to convey information and to establish relationships between speakers and hearers.

14. The pragmatic functions of English named phrases are to convey information and to establish relationships between speakers and hearers.

15. The results of this study are as follows:

16. The cognitive functions of English named phrases are to convey information and to establish relationships between speakers and hearers.

17. The pragmatic functions of English named phrases are to convey information and to establish relationships between speakers and hearers.

18. The results of this study are as follows:

METHODOLOGY

The data for this study were collected from the transcripts of the conversations between the speakers and the hearers.

The data were analyzed using the following procedures:

1. The data were transcribed into text.

2. The data were analyzed for the presence of named phrases.

3. The data were analyzed for the cognitive and pragmatic functions of the named phrases.

4. The data were analyzed for the results of the study.

5. The data were analyzed for the conclusions of the study.

6. The data were analyzed for the implications of the study.

7. The data were analyzed for the limitations of the study.

8. The data were analyzed for the future research of the study.

9. The data were analyzed for the significance of the study.

10. The data were analyzed for the contribution of the study.

11. The data were analyzed for the validity of the study.

12. The data were analyzed for the reliability of the study.

13. The data were analyzed for the generalizability of the study.

14. The data were analyzed for the applicability of the study.

15. The data were analyzed for the transferability of the study.

16. The data were analyzed for the robustness of the study.

17. The data were analyzed for the sensitivity of the study.

18. The data were analyzed for the specificity of the study.

19. The data were analyzed for the accuracy of the study.

20. The data were analyzed for the precision of the study.

Figure 1: Distribution of named phrases.

Figure 2: Distribution of named phrases.

Figure 3: Distribution of named phrases.

Figure 4: Distribution of named phrases.

Figure 5: Distribution of named phrases.

Figure 6: Distribution of named phrases.

Figure 7: Distribution of named phrases.

Figure 8: Distribution of named phrases.

Figure 9: Distribution of named phrases.

Figure 10: Distribution of named phrases.

Figure 11: Distribution of named phrases.

RESULTS

The results of this study are as follows:

1. The cognitive functions of English named phrases are to convey information and to establish relationships between speakers and hearers.

2. The pragmatic functions of English named phrases are to convey information and to establish relationships between speakers and hearers.

3. The results of this study are as follows:

4. The cognitive functions of English named phrases are to convey information and to establish relationships between speakers and hearers.

5. The pragmatic functions of English named phrases are to convey information and to establish relationships between speakers and hearers.

6. The results of this study are as follows:

7. The cognitive functions of English named phrases are to convey information and to establish relationships between speakers and hearers.

8. The pragmatic functions of English named phrases are to convey information and to establish relationships between speakers and hearers.

9. The results of this study are as follows:

10. The cognitive functions of English named phrases are to convey information and to establish relationships between speakers and hearers.

11. The pragmatic functions of English named phrases are to convey information and to establish relationships between speakers and hearers.

12. The results of this study are as follows:

13. The cognitive functions of English named phrases are to convey information and to establish relationships between speakers and hearers.

14. The pragmatic functions of English named phrases are to convey information and to establish relationships between speakers and hearers.

15. The results of this study are as follows:

16. The cognitive functions of English named phrases are to convey information and to establish relationships between speakers and hearers.

17. The pragmatic functions of English named phrases are to convey information and to establish relationships between speakers and hearers.

18. The results of this study are as follows:

19. The cognitive functions of English named phrases are to convey information and to establish relationships between speakers and hearers.

20. The pragmatic functions of English named phrases are to convey information and to establish relationships between speakers and hearers.

