1. Reading (6 points)

Text:

"For centuries, people have dreamed of exploring space. In the 20th century, these dreams became reality with the first satellites, space stations, and human missions to the Moon. Today, space tourism is becoming a new industry. Companies such as SpaceX and Blue Origin are planning commercial flights for ordinary people. However, critics argue that these projects are extremely expensive and create pollution. Supporters believe that space travel inspires innovation and may even help humanity survive if Earth becomes uninhabitable."

Questions:

1. What achievement became reality in the 20th century?
2. Which two companies are mentioned?
3. Give one argument against space tourism.
4. Give one reason why supporters think it is useful.
5. True/False/Not Given: "Ordinary people have already traveled to space as tourists."
6. In your opinion, should governments or private companies pay for space research? Why? (2–3 sentences)
