	Reading 190 CEFR LEVEL A2

CEFR: Common European Framework of Reference

Typical strengths for your Listening score

Your scaled score is between 300 and 400. Test takers who score around 300 typically have the following strengths:

- They can sometimes infer the central idea, purpose, and basic context of short spoken exchanges, especially when the vocabulary is not difficult.
- They can understand the central idea, purpose, and basic context of extended spoken texts when this information is supported by repetition or paraphrase.
- They can understand details in short spoken exchanges when easy or medium-level vocabulary is used.
- They can understand details in extended spoken texts when the information is supported by repetition and when the requested information comes at the beginning or end of the spoken text. They can understand details when the information is slightly paraphrased.

To see weaknesses typical of test takers who score around 300, see the Proficiency Description Table.
 If your performance is closer to 400, you should also review the descriptors for test takers who score around 400.

Typical strengths for your Reading score

Your scaled score is between 150 and 250. Test takers who score around 150 typically have the following strengths:

- They can locate the correct answer to a factual question when not very much reading is necessary and when the language of the text matches the information that is required.
- They can understand easy vocabulary and common phrases.
- They can understand the most-common, rule-based grammatical structures when not very much reading is necessary.

To see weaknesses typical of test takers who score around 150, see the Proficiency Description Table.
 If your performance is closer to 250, you should review the descriptors for test takers who score around 250.

* The range of total scores associated with each CEFR level is estimated by adding the relevant cut scores from the Listening and Reading test section CEFR mappings. Whenever possible, ETS encourages score users to consider CEFR levels separately for Listening and Reading rather than using a single overall estimate based on the total score. This approach is more precise and considers a test taker's language profile, which may differ between listening and reading comprehension.

Note: TOEIC scores more than two years old cannot be reported or validated.

This score report is intended for use only by the institution which sponsored the test administration, and should not be used by other entities for any purpose.
